The colts had a good doff, Vorhees cutting out the work and leading und the turn a couple of lengths, which he carried to quarter pole, his colt acting very wildly all the way, i pulling himself to pieces. Going down the backtock Vorhees colt became so rank it was impossible men him on a trot, and, in pulling him, he began to six, and before he got past the old stand he came to alt and fell down. scoording to announcement in the HERALD the grand sch between these clubs, and their first annual contest the day the score stood 79 to 77 in favor of New York, innings on each side having been played. proved to be far more lively than was expected after the rain we have had, and consequently the bowlers had a better chance of success.

The New Yorkers went to the bat first, and though their first wicket did not fall until 22 had been placed upon the acore book, the last wicket went down for 79. Byron's finely obtained 23 was the feature of the inning's play at the bat, Hudson having been disposed of by O'Brien after scoring 14 in style, Tyler's 11 being the only other double figures obtained, so effective was the bowling of O'Brien and Hammond, and so creditably was the upported in the field. The catch of Lancey at point of Marsh's bat was the finest ever seen on the grounds. The wicket-keeping of Eaton and long-stopping of Sullivan was noteworthy for excellence.

The Bostonians opened play at the bat in handsome style, the bowling and fielding of their opponents not being up to the mark by any means; besides which the Bostonians made the game lively by their good running, at least in the early part of the game. They had scored 61 for three wickets, and the game promised well for a good score, when they began to fall rapidly; in fact the last seven wickets went down for 16 runs only, she New York fielding being improved. A fine catch by Higham, and a pretty one by Suydam, together with two by Byron, were praiseworthy instances of good fielding. The Bostonians are minus the services of Draper, one of their best players; and two of their best delders, Jeelyn and Allner, did not come with them. They have, bowever, a fine toam, nevertheless. The New Yorkers landsomely enterlained their guests.

The following is the score of the match as far as played:—

It is understood that legal proceedings have been insti-tuted to recover the money lost by the Poughkeepsie Boat Club, represented by Stevens, Wooden, Burger and in their match with the Colyer Club of this Beneway, in their match with the Colyer Club of this city, which took place on the 18th of July, under the law for the suppression of gambling. The match was won by the Colyer, and the money paid over by the stakeholder on the decision of the referee. The legal point involved is whether a stakeholder, who is a disinterested party altogether, and equally an agent of both clubs, can be prosecuted for the return of money which he was directed by his principals to appropriate in a particular manner under certain contingencies. The law, it would seem, refers only to parties directly interested; but in this case an attempt is made to make a third party responsible for money paid and delivered to individuals to whom it belonged by all the rules which govern honorable transactions. If any parties are liable they are those who received the money in good faith, and who by this time have appropriated it to private use. An agent who obeys the instructions of his principals, and pays money on their order, should not be held accountable for losses sustained in business transactions. The Poughkeepsie Club, it would seem, went in to win, to make money—and with a determination not to lose in any event. Had they been victorious in the contest they would have received the money and appropriated all the honors; but as they were defeated they now seek to recover the money lost by their lack of skill, not from those who have received it, but from their own agent, a disinterested third party, who had nothing at stake whatever, and could share none of the profits. The conduct of the Poughkeepsie Club does not meet general approbation, and few honorable boat clubs will be found to sention their proceedings. city, which took place on the 18th of July, under the law

THE NAVY.

THE DOCK BACE BETWEEN THE GUNBOATS ALGON-QUIN AND WINGOSKI.

The "dock race" between the double end gunb onquin and Wincoski, which was to have taken place yesterday, did not take place because Mr. Dickerson, the inventor of the "civillan" engine, was not ready for the trial. The Winooski, the government boat, manned by maval efficers and naval engineers, has been ready for the past week, with a full complement of men and a supply of coal on board. The dilitoriness of some party is fast bringing this long promised race into a farce, and the probability is that no definite, practical result will arise from the anticipated trial. This does not arise from any remissness of the Navy Department, who have given the fullest liberty by placing a vessel, help and savistance at the disposal of Mr. Dickerson to make the trial, and yet he hesitates on what is alleged are mere incidental questions.

tal questions.

The trial advertised to take place yesterday did not come off, from the above statement of facis, nor is there any likelihood that it will ever take place.

The following named officers compose the board who are to decide on the relative qualities of the engines of ahe two vessels:

Robert Danby, Chief Engineer, President; E. Fithian,
M. Kellogg, Chief Engineers; T. M. Dukchait, James P.

Northern Emigration to North Carolina Wilmington, N. C., Sept. 8, 1866.

There is now a considerable tide of emigration from the North. Most of it is under the auspices of the General Southern Land Agency, which has established an office for the Northern States in New York. The company offers land for sale throughout all the Southern States, and its agents estimate that at least a fundred thousand emigrants will go from the Northern States during the present year. There was some opposition to the movement when it first commenced, but the Southern people are gradually becoming favorable to the new order of things, and are putting their lands in the hands of these agents at low figures, many of them being convinced that Northern men will greatly assist the development of the resources of the South. she North. SHIF W A FARSWORT salled from Hong Kong on the 30th June, bound to Shamhae, with a cargo principally sugar. When off Pedro Blanco, at 2 A M on the lat of July, it commenced blowing freshly from the NW. No indications of a typhoon until 3:30 A M, when the barometer feel suddenly to 29 30, and continued falling till 4 P M, when it stood at 25 50. All this time it blew terrifically, hall and rain coming down furiously. At 4 A M the vessel was hove upon her beam ends; everything being adrift, and a tremendous sea making a complete breach over the vessel, skylights, spars, &c, all washed away, and the water rushing into the ship; it was deemed advisable for the safety of the vessel, feeling confident that unless accomplished the ship would sink, to cut away the main and mizen masts, the foremast head going with the foretopmast; after considerable difficulty cut the wreck adrift clear of the ship's side. The weather shortly after moderated, the wind blowing lightly from the SW. Rigged a jury foretopmast and foretopgallantmast, and endeavored to stand off shore. At 4 P M, Illh, the steamer Ganges hove in sight, and seeling the W A Farnsworth in a distressed condition, took her in tow and brought her into Hong Kong. The vessel is but very elightly strained, but the quantity of water which poured down her skylight and through the deck when the mizenmast had gone, renders it likely that her cargo (sugar) is much damaged.

JOHN V. N. HUNTER

A MAN SAVED FROM LAMENESS FOR LIFE.

A gentleman, from placing the heel of his boot on a piec
of orange peel, was suddenly thrown down, and violently sprained his knee. He was six months confined to the house though he had the best medical advice. As a last resort very eminent physician was called in to see if anything mor could be done. After examination, he said:—"My opinion is, your knee will never be bent again." He recommende that the whole leg and knee should be incased in a plaste
of Paris bandage, which would accelerate the permanen stiffening of the knee, and said, "the sooner it was don the better." But the patient, before trying this appplication and having a stiff knee for life, enveloped it in our Porou Plastera, and in less than two months his knee was perfecti cured.

We are permitted to refer to the druggists generally as the character of this universally approved application.
